District battles deficit

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

The pressure is on for Romulus school officials trying to eliminate the budget deficit facing the district.

"Our deficit will not be totally eliminated at the end of the school year," said Joel Carr, assistant superintendent for finance and operations.

Carr explained that despite the passage of two millages in November, the district is hurting from lack of state funding.

"Our taxpayers are making a very strong effort in our community, but the state is killing us," Carr said.

Approximately 18 years ago, 45 to 50 percent of the state budget went to education, according to Carr. Now the amount has dwindled to seven or eight percent, he said.

"For every dollar we put in it seems like they take a couple," Carr continued.

Lack of state funding can be felt in other districts as well, he pointed out. Approximately 100 districts in Michigan are expected to be in deficit by the end of the school year, Carr said.

Another factor concerning officials is declining enrollment figures. While 600 is the optimum enrollment for most of the elementary schools in the district, the schools now house between 300 and 400 students, according to a document submitted to the board of education.

Officials of the Michigan Department of Education have informed Romulus school officials that if the district cannot completely eliminate the budget deficit, it must show improvement each year.

"That puts us in the position where we must come up with some long-range cost-cutting," Carr said.

The recently announced closing of Hayti Elementary School is one cost-cutting measure being taken by the board of education. The closing will save Romulus Community Schools $180,000 per year, according to Carr.

Layoffs, instead of transfers, for some of the Hayti staff is another means for fighting the growing deficit. Support staff such as custodians and secretaries might also be targeted for layoffs.

Hayti closing 'written in stone'

Parents Monday night made a final effort to convince school board members not to close Hayti Elementary School this fall, but school officials said their decision is final.

The Romulus school district will save $180,000 a year by closing Hayti, according to Joel Carr, assistant superintendent for finance and operations.

"We lost," said Wendy Sexton, president of the parent teacher organization for Hayti. Sexton led a group of concerned parents in a petition drive to keep the school open.

"Whatever we did it was a losing battle...I know that a lot of the parents are angry," Sexton said.

Parents attending the school board meeting were told board members agreed to close Hayti four years ago, if necessary.

Once parents realized their battle was lost, they brought up concerns about safely bussing their children to other schools in the district.

"Most of the kids that go to Hayti ride a bus as it is," Carr said. "It just will be for a little longer."

The district school busses are safe, Carr emphasized.

"We run almost a million miles a year, and we have an excellent safety record," he said.

School officials are undecided about where Hayti students will be placed.

"No final decision was made on the boundaries," Carr said.

A committee was expected to meet Tuesday evening to discuss some of the options, according to Carr. A plan should be available within the next few weeks.

School board members have discussed possible uses for the Hayti school building. One suggestion was to use it for recreational purposes.

"The police station on Olive is one of our old schools," Carr said. The building is to be returned to the school district if the police move to another location. A similar deal could be made with the city, Carr said.

Debbie Dick, director of the Romulus Recreation Department, said the Hayti building is an option for the city, but the matter has not been discussed yet.

Airport study set to begin soon

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Potential development for Romulus and surrounding communities will be examined during the next few months as part of a $70,000 study.

The study will focus on Detroit Metropolitan and Willow Run airports and their effect on industrial development in surrounding communities. Several cities in Western Wayne County will participate.

"It's a regional look," Oakes said. "We're trying to determine which firms might possibly be interested in developing here."

The study will include information on economic trends and specific development opportunities, including the types and names of industries that are likely to locate or expand in the area. It will also analyze specific sites, Oakes said.

Romulus will contribute $4,000 to the study.

Because Romulus has 11,000 acres of vacant land, the study will look at approximately 50 sites in Romulus alone, Oakes said.

Airport-related industry will also be contacted to determine their interest in Romulus sites.

The firm conducting the study, Arthur D. Little, is a nationally-known authority in airport-related economic development, Oakes continued, and has a large data-base of firms.

This is the first time such a study has been available to Romulus.

"It's really a new effort. We have really not tried to market the airport as an economic strength," Oakes said.

While the airport does not necessarily encourage residential development, Oakes said, it is a plus in terms of industrial development.

"For the kinds of development the study is looking at it certainly is an asset...It's our largest development," Oakes said.

In an informal telephone survey, several Romulus residents were asked a similar question about the airport.

"It never has helped development in Romulus," said DeLores Witzgall, who lives on Porter.

"It probably hinders it," said Vern Sigler, who lives on Woodmont Avenue. "The more land they take the fewer residents...As they expand, more people move away for fear of noise."

City prepares to install 9-1-1 phone system

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

A 9-1-1 telephone emergency system will be installed at the Romulus Police Station by late March, officials anticipate, with actual service beginning no later than early June.

This system, which will cost the police department approximately $45,000, will provide dispatchers with the location and telephone number of all emergency callers within the city, according to Lt. Robert Brown of the Romulus Police Department.

"It's going to be very beneficial," he said.

The system is expected to save time when it comes to responding to emergency calls.

The department is working in cooperation with Michigan Bell and the Conference of Western Wayne to provide this service. The telephone company will provide free training to dispatchers, cadets and shift leaders. Eventually, everyone in the department will be trained to use the 9-1-1 equipment.

"It's most important we train the people who will answer the phone the first day it's (9-1-1) installed," Brown said.

Although the 9-1-1 equipment will be installed in March, the department will not be able to utilize the system until it undergoes testing.

ceive 911 calls?...I'm not really sure," Brown said.

The CWW, a consortium of 17 area communities, is the coordinating agency for the implementation of the 9-1-1 system. Each of the 17 communities are expected to be using the system by June 9.

In addition to the installation of telephone equipment and the training of police staff members, making the general public aware of 9-1-1 is crucial, according to Joe Benyo, project coordinator for CWW.

"The public education will be our responsibility," Benyo said. "We're in the process of formulating exactly what we want to do."

Ideas to spread the word include educational slides at movie theaters, along with the distribution of telephone stickers and shopping bags displaying 9-1-1 information. Speakers will also visit schools, senior citizen groups, churches and clubs to explain the 9-1-1 system.

"Basically, we're trying to prevent any problems from coming up," Benyo continued. "The public education will be the greatest aspect we can offer people."

When the 9-1-1 number is used for non-emergencies, a line that should be open for a true emergency is kept busy, Benyo said.

Benyo hopes the public education program offered by the CWW will become a model for other communities.

Pay hikes: Area congressmen vote against increases

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Local federal lawmakers were among those opposed to a 50-percent congressional pay hike during a vote on the issue Feb. 7.

U.S. Rep. William D. Ford (D-Taylor), of the 15th congressional district, was the only local lawmaker who supported the salary increase.

The controversial proposal would have increased congressmen's annual salaries from $89,500 to $135,000. A similar increase would have been given to federal judges and to top officials of the executive branch of the federal government.

Members of U.S. Senate voted to reject the pay raise Feb. 2. The issue continued to spur controversy until members of the U.S. House of Representatives voted against the pay hikes Feb. 7.

The salary increases were scheduled to automatically take effect at 12:01 a.m. Feb. 8. The congressional vote was necessary to override the pay hikes.

U.S. Sen. Carl Levin (D-Detroit) voiced strong opposition to the pay hike, before members of Congress voted on the issue.

"When we face huge budget deficits year after year, it is unconscionable for this pay raise to be proposed by President Reagan or approved by the Congress," Levin said Jan. 18.

Levin now wants members of Congress to be forbidden from accepting speaking fees or honoraria.

House members can earn up to $26,850 in honoraria, and Senate members may earn up to $35,800.

"I do favor the elimination of honoraria... and I don't accept them," Levin said, in December.

An honorarium is a fee paid to professionals upon which no pre-determined amount is set or is legally obtainable.

Levin is considering the introduction of a bill that would prohibit members of Congress from accepting such fees, according to Will Blacklow, Levin's press secretary.

U.S. Rep. Sander Levin (D-Southfield) also expressed opposition to a 50-percent pay hike and to honoraria. He joined those voting against the pay hikes last week, but he is also not entirely opposed to a salary increase.

"He feels a smaller pay raise would be acceptable, as long as it led to a decrease in honoraria," said Kitty Higgins, a spokesperson.

U.S. Sen. Donald Riegle (D-Flint) also rejected the pay hike and said he will do so again in the future.

"He does not think Congress should vote for their own pay raises," said Mike Russel, Riegle's press secretary.

Riegle would like to see the current system of congressional pay continued, Russel said, "including the acceptance of honoraria."

Congressman Ford, the only local supporter of the pay raise, said the controversy surrounding the issue "missed the point."

"It is quite apparent to me that both the media and a great many of my colleagues ruefully have missed the point in the protracted and misleading debate on the issue of the pay raise recommended by former President Reagan shortly before he left office," Ford said, on the House floor Feb. 7. "The whole focus of the controversy revolved erroneously around members of Congress, while the very structure of our federal government is crumbling because we no longer are able to attract the best and the brightest among us to fight the battles against such public enemies as AIDS, cancer, crime, drugs, illiteracy, pollution and a myriad of other ills that beset our society."

Solid-waste plan revisions debated

By BARBARA ALBERT
ANP Staff Writer

Representatives of the Conference of Western Wayne and the Wayne County executive's office remain at odds about the composition of a committee to research potential landfill sites and the Wayne County solid-waste plan.

After a lengthy discussion on the matter at the Feb. 10 meeting of CWW - a regional advocacy group composed of area lawmakers - representatives decided to remain on course with the plan they have proposed.

CWW Executive Director Ann Bollin met with Wayne County Commissioner Milt Mack Feb. 15. The meeting ended at a standstill because of the language concerning industrial waste, the exemption of communities hosting landfills from the recycling plan and the composition of the siting committee.

CWW members have been working with county officials on revisions to the solid-waste plan. The plan proposed by the county did not "sit well" with several communities, thus CWW members have offered amendments.

The siting committee has been the biggest stumbling block to the county plan. County Executive Edward McNamara has proposed a nine-member committee which would exclude local elected officials and which would include technical experts already on staff with the county.

Several representatives of the CWW, including Bollin, suggested that McNamara wants to maintain control of the locations of landfills.

Sumpter Township, Canton Township, Van Buren Township and Huron Township are all considered probable sites for landfills.

County officials maintain that, by having elected officials on the committee, progress would slow because of political issues.

"Some elected officials might be OK about it (supporting a landfill in their community as part of the committee), but I don't think they would come back home waving a flag about it. If they did, they probably wouldn't be back again," said Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen.

Breen said he has no problem with the executive's proposed committee as long as there are criteria established for siting a landfill.

"The proposed committee would include three county officials, four representatives selected by the communities through the CWW, the Downriver, the Metro Detroit and the Grosse Pointe caucuses and two technical advisors.

After the debate, CWW representatives voted to continue "on course" with their proposals.

JUST ONE GOOD AD

Have you ever thought, "If I could find one good ad I could quadruple my sales"? Have you ever inquired about how you might find that right ad? If you have you've probably been told that the only way is by trial and error.

But, what if a group of small advertisers in a number of cities got together and each tried a few ads sharing their results with each other? If one finds a "block buster" it can be used by the others successfully also. This would be testing in a Co-op method. Together advertisers perform one massive test that they could not possibly afford individually. Co-op works successfully wherever tried. It can work in the advertising industry also.

Woodbridge group set to begin construction

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Construction of a $13.9 million development project took a step forward Friday morning in the form of a ground-breaking ceremony at the Oakwood Industrial Park, in Romulus.

Once completed, the development will include a two-building manufacturing facility for the Woodbridge Group, an international supplier of automotive trim and interior parts. The facilities are expected to occupy approximately 20 acres.

The first building is expected to be completed by late July.

Woodbridge Group officials have promised 265 new jobs as a result of the facility, many of which could go to Romulus residents.

The development project was almost cancelled in December, however, when Woodbridge officials were denied a nine-year tax abatement, Romulus City Councilmembers would only approve a six-year abatement.

Officials appealed the motion the following week. They claimed a nine-year abatement had been granted to another company in Romulus, Lear Siegler, and said the Woodbridge Group deserves the same consideration.

Councilmembers ultimately moved to grant an additional three years of tax abatement, and plans for construction moved forward.

"It took awhile to get this one through," said Joe Kochanowski, one of the developers for the industrial park. "Now it's pretty much up to De Mattia (the construction firm)." Participating in the ground-breaking ceremony was Mayor Beverly McAnally, Bill Wild, director of economic development for Wayne County, Hugh Sloan, Jr., president of the Woodbridge Group, Vince Showick, future plant manager and Mark Tucker, vice president of the R.A. De Mattia construction company.

said co-chairperson Eunice Johnson. "The initial concept was to organize into a larger group that can reach more individuals."

One of the larger projects sponsored by the team is coming up this month. "Black History: The Military Connection," will be presented from 2 until 4 p.m. Feb. 26 at the Romulus Civic Center on Wahrman Road. The Community Organization Team and the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council are co-sponsors.

Planned activities include a

"The speaker will discuss why young people choose to go into the military," Johnson said.

This will be the fourth year the Community Organization Team has presented an information fair. Past displays have been contributed from the city archives, local churches and from residents.

Residents are encouraged to

"The fair is for families looking for a way to celebrate black history in the city of Romulus," Johnson said.

The Community Organization Team is responsible for a number of Romulus programs including a six-week summer program for Romulus youth, ages 6 to 18; Halloween and Christmas parties; and substance abuse programs.

Birthdays don't mean much to 91-year-old Romulus resident Hugh Hurlbert, but the mementos he has collected along the way mean a lot. Long-time Romulus resident celebrates his 91st birthday with fond memories

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Ninety-one-year-old Hugh Hurlbert doesn't want a big birthday bash this week. He prefers a small get-together.

Hurlbert, of Romulus, expects some visitors to stop by his Wayne Road house to wish him a happy birthday. He brought his wife and six children to the old house in 1944.

"My kids, I guess, will come. They gave me a regular blow out when I turned 90," Hurlbert said. "Relationships came from all over."

The house, which he now shares with one of his daughters, is filled with memories which Hurlbert proudly displays. He is quick to provide a tour, telling the stories behind each item.

An antique sideboard in the living room is filled with photos dating back to the turn of the century, including one of himself as a World War I soldier.

"You can't find these anymore," Hurlbert remarked, referring to the sideboard.

Every night I gave my God a thank you for the day and an advance thank you for tomorrow.

— Hugh Hurlbert

"My wife bought this at an auction when we got married."

The year was 1927 and the sideboard cost the young couple $2.50, he said.

Also displayed on the sideboard is an old set of sleigh bells which could be heard from miles away on a clear night, according to Hurlbert.

Next to the bells are two pieces of knarled pine wood Hurlbert once found. He plans to make one of them into a lamp some day.

The white-haired man makes his way around the room on a crutch, anxiously picking out items which tell the story of his 91 years.

In the corner of the room are tools Hurlbert and his father used for logging when Hurlbert was a young boy living near West Branch.

"I logged with my dad since I was old enough to stand."

Hurlbert left home when he was 17 and tried logging in North Dakota.

"I didn't do it because I wanted to. I wanted to see what it was like," he said.

Hurlbert recalls a time when cars were a novelty, not a necessity.

"Old Doc Hoop had the first Ford in West Branch. You could hear it from two miles away," Hurlbert laughed.

Those days were filled with exhausting work for Hurlbert and others like him. He tried logging, work-

Home sales: 1988 was a good year for buyers, sellers

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The American dream of owning your own home remains affordable for those who wish to make their dreams become a reality.

"Homes remain an excellent investment," said Dottie Lesuer, a real-estate agent with Earl Keim Realty, in Westland. "They also remain the only major federal and state income-tax deduction allowable. So, taking everything into consideration, yes, I would say buying a home is probably one of the best investments one can make."

Many people, including many first-time buyers, apparently agree. Buoyed by stable interest rates, 1988 local home sales in Westland and the area topped 1987 figures.

Figures supplied by the Western Wayne Oakland Board of Realtors, in Westland, revealed that there were 870 home sales in 1987. That figure was 916 last year. The median price of the sales in 1988 was $57,000.

In all seven communities served by the Associated Newspapers, local home sales figures showed increases compared to the previous year.

One of the major concerns of the real-estate industry is that the prices of the homes are slowly moving out of reach for first-time buyers. LeSuer believes that fear isn't yet substantial in the present market.

"Some 10 years ago, I remember attending a seminar where these same fears were expressed. And, yes, the prices went up, but people continued to buy," LeSuer said. "I don't see them stopping, except, of course, if we get the kind of rates like those at the end of the Carter administration, when it reached 20 and 21 percent.

"Today, there are so many creative ways to finance homes than they had back then. The best way is to shop around for them," LeSuer continued.

Although the interest rate for a 30-year mortgage may be quoted as 10 1/2 to 11 percent, LeSuer said, a buyer can look for the financial package that suits him or her.

Willie Williams, owner of Will Cooperate, Inc., also a Keim Realty branch, agreed. "The market has never been better, and there are excellent buys out there," Williams said. "Some young couples today opt to put their hard-earned money in renting apartments. It's never best to rent when you consider that investing in property and homes pays bigger dividends. And Inkster probably offers one of the best markets in the area, and Romulus is close by," Williams continued.

Eric J. Hunt, Metro MLS president, said the strong market of 1988 also attracted an increased number of sellers. Listings in the Wayne-Oakland county area increased 7.8 percent for the year and included gains of 1,616 single-family homes and 779 condos.

"With a 16-percent jump in December from a year earlier," Hunt said, "we expect this listing trend to continue. Many of the homes coming on the market meet the needs of first-time buyers."

"When these are sold, it generally starts a chain reaction."

1988 local home sales
The number of local home sales increased 8 percent in 1988 compared to 1987, according to the Western Wayne-Oakland County Board of Realtors. In addition, the overall selling price of homes in the seven-community area was listed as $52,500. What follows is a breakdown of area home sales.
AREA	'87 SALES	'88 SALES	AVG. PRICE
Belleville area	164	189	$55,000
Canton Township	719	807	$96,000
Inkster (east)	78	97	$36,000
Inkster (west)	94	99	$32,000
Romulus	91	100	$44,450
Sumpter Township	45	48	$58,000
Wayne	214	213	$42,000
Westland	870	916	$57,000

Governor's home plan applauded

By BARBARA ALBERT
ANP Staff Writer

A program to help young couples buy homes is being applauded by local real-estate agents.

Gov. James Blanchard proposed the Michigan Home Ownership Savings Trust as part of his state of the state address last week.

The trust would be designed similarly to the Michigan Education Trust - also known as HOST - established last year. First-time prospective homebuyers could save a set amount of money into a trust with the state. The investment would generate tax-free interest during a period of years.

Three to 10 years after the money is invested, it can be used toward a downpayment on a home.

"I think it is a great idea," said Ted Martin, of Red Carpet-Keim, in Westland. "Often, couples are trying to keep up with the rate of inflation, as they save for a downpayment. But they are losing tax benefits as they save."

The new program will also encourage young couples to establish long-range goals for the future. Any program that does that is bound to have a positive effect, Martin said.

"This will force them to commit to a goal early on, that goal being a home," he continued.

The HOST is expected to be especially beneficial to one-income families and people with moderate incomes. One area Realtor hopes the trust won't exclude additional programs for low-income families.

"The people it is designed to help could actually afford their own savings plan," said Charles Pickering, of Century 21, in Canton Township. "There needs to be more means for helping low-income families afford houses."

Deadly debate

State lawmakers again consider the death penalty

By JIM RINK
ANP Staff Writer

Following the recent execution of serial killer Ted Bundy, the issue of capital punishment has once again etched itself onto the American consciousness.

In Michigan, where the death penalty is outlawed, state legislators have renewed the perennial debate.

A change in the current law would require an amendment to the state constitution, in turn requiring a two-thirds majority vote of both houses and a public ballot issue.

Most legislators do not believe the issue will emerge from the debate stages, however, state representatives Vincent Porreca (D-Trenton), Joseph Palamara (D-Wyandotte) and Lynn Owen (D-Maybee) have co-sponsored a bill calling for the death penalty in one specific case.

The bill, House Joint Resolution A, is in response to a recent rash of highway shootings in southeast Michigan. The bill calls for the death penalty only for persons convicted of discharging a firearm on the highway resulting in the death of a motorist or passenger.

House Joint Resolution A is currently in the House Judiciary Committee. The bill will be up for a public vote at the next general election if passed by both the House and the Senate.

"This issue is almost annual," state Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton) said. "Certain crimes tend to bring it back into focus. There will be some resolutions introduced for an amendment to the constitution, but that will be about the extent of it. If history is an accurate predictor, the chances are small that the issue will reach the voters."

"Personally, I'm not in favor of the death penalty. I have a moral objection to the state putting people to death. If I detach myself morally, the death penalty is not a good public policy. If you followed the Ted Bundy situation, it was seven years that he was in appeals court trying to appeal his execution."

Kosteva said that he opposes capital punishment because it ends up costing states more than incarceration and does not serve as an effective deterrent to crime.

Kosteva cited conditions in Miami, where the crime rate matches or exceeds that of Detroit.

"Major states with the death penalty have not seen an appreciable decrease in the crime rate," Kosteva said.

State Sen. R. Robert Geake (R-Northville) said he is in favor of the death penalty in Michigan for persons convicted of certain offenses.

"I've always been in favor of the death penalty for first-degree murder," Geake said. "I believe it would be a deterrent for people engaged in other crimes, such as hold-ups, not to shoot witnesses and/or police."

Geake said that more than one-half of the crimes committed in most states are drug-related, and that individuals responsible for these kinds of crimes would probably not be deterred by the death penalty.

Geake said a resolution on the issue could probably pass the state Senate, but would not be approved by the House, currently under the control of liberal Democrats.

State Rep. Gerald Law (R-Plymouth) said he supports capital punishment, not because it deters crime, but because it is "the just punishment" for certain crimes.

"I don't think you can prove that capital punishment reduces crime," Law said, "but my own personal feeling is that certain crimes are so heinous that the death penalty is a just punishment."

Law said the death penalty would possibly be suitable in cases of premeditated first-degree murder, kidnappers who kill, inmates who kill or people who kill police officers.

OLDER ADULTS — EAT RIGHT STAY HEALTHY!

By Satish Kamath, M.D., F.A.C.P.

It has become apparent in recent years that malnutrition is widespread among the elderly.

Sound nutrition and good health are inseparable at any age, but due to other health problems older adults face, a well-balanced diet is vital.

MASKED SYMPTOMS

Symptoms often attributed to old age itself — fatigue, loss of appetite, irritability, anxiety, and repeated infections — often are the result of poor diet.

Studies have shown that most older adults consume only 1,000 to 1,800 calories a day and obtain less than 60 percent of the recommended daily allowances of several important vitamins and minerals — including iron, zinc, riboflavin, potassium, calcium, and vitamins C and D.

FACTORS OF MALNUTRITION

In many cases, malnutrition can be traced to several factors: fewer than eight meals a week, less than a cup of milk daily, almost no fruit or vegetables, wasting of food, long periods during the day without food or beverages, loneliness, shopping difficulties, and low income.

Other influences that may lead to poor nutrition are mental illness; no knowledge of the principles of nutrition; alcoholism; reduced sense of taste, smell, and sight; loss of spouse; chronic illness; and social isolation.

FEWER CALORIES NEEDED

As you age, you naturally need fewer calories because of a change in your body that burns energy at a lower rate. Also, many older adults suffer chronic conditions — obesity, diabetes, heart disease — that call for fewer calories, plus they are less active than younger adults.

However, older adults still need the same amount of vitamins, minerals, and protein that younger adults need. A well-balanced diet remains a key factor in keeping your health.

Next week: Advice on how older adults can eat to stay healthy.

Cruise trips can combine the best of all worlds - the breezes and even the sandy beaches... at an affordable price. ANP photo by Joan Mary Dyer

Cruising in the sunny lane

Area travelers find 'paradise'

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

When arctic winds chill the air, visions of sunny skies, balmy breezes, sandy beaches and tropical waters tend to fill the dreams of those who live and work in the midwest.

Growing in popularity each season, cruise trips can combine the best of all worlds - the sun-speckled ocean, balmy breezes and even the sandy beaches - plus the convenience of an airline and transfer package to your destination.

Although cruise trips are available to Alaska, the South Pacific, Mexico, Hawaii and the Greek islands, the most accessible and convenient cruise trips for western Wayne County residents are those to the Bahamas. In less than four hours after boarding a plane at Metro Airport, cruise passengers can embark from Ft. Lauderdale or Miami, Fla., on a three-, four-, seven- or ten-day cruise to the nearby Caribbean Islands.

All cruise lines provide a variety of activities - in which passengers may or may not choose to participate. Those whose only interests are swimming and relaxing will be allowed ample time to float in the pool and lounge on deck. On the other hand, cruise passengers who choose to fill their days and nights with a busy schedule of activities, will find their itineraries are full of events, both on board and ashore.

For example, a typical day aboard ship can include a different, current film in the afternoon and evening, games, casino gambling, exercise classes, a visit to the sauna, a massage and poolside activities, plus a variety of entertainment. In the evening a comedian, singer or dance group will perform in the main lounge, while disco music, dance bands and Caribbean steel bands are featured in other areas of the ship. Some cruises feature a country and western, '50s and '60s, big band, jazz or magic focus with appropriate music, food and activities to complement the theme.

In port, passengers may choose to participate in group excursions - usually the most economical and convenient choice - or arrange for a private tour conducted by one of the hundreds of jitney drivers who gather at the docks. Arrangements can be made for sightseeing, golfing, shopping or visiting the local beaches. A special attraction of the Norwegian Cruise Line is a day long visit to their own private island, Great Stirrup Cay, where passengers can swim, sun themselves on the sandy beach, and view tropical fish in the clear, clean water while snorkeling.

Cruise ships are known for the variety, elegance and abundance of the meals - breakfast, luncheon, dinner and midnight buffets. If the regular schedule of dining room meals is not convenient, passengers may eat a light breakfast, lunch or afternoon snack at poolside or order a meal in the cabin from room service.

Meals - without exception - are always "something to write home about." Passengers select each meal, from appetizers to desserts, from an ample menu, and waiters are always willing to explain how a particular dish is prepared or interpret a foreign word or phrase describing the selection.

With the variety of cruise options available, first-time passengers can be sure of finding a suitable package by consulting their travel agents. Because there are a wide range of prices - for example, between $375 and $845 per person for a four-day cruise - vacationers should outline their requirements, preferences and vacation budgets to their travel agents and request that they select the best package available.

Begin planning for summer fun

By THOMAS M. VARCIE
ANP Staff Writer

It may be cold and snowy outside, but it's never too early to think of warmer destinations.

Family summer vacations should be planned three to four months in advance, according to Keya Tucker, of World Travel, in Plymouth. And June is just four months away.

Reservations for air fare, lodging and car rental should be made approximately three months before the trip. In fact, the key word in vacationing, Tucker said, is planning.

"You can never plan too early. By booking flights and hotels early, you can be assured to have the lowest rates and better rooms at the hotel," Tucker said.

"By booking the flights early, you can take advantage of the super saver air fares. Most super saver fares must be purchased at least 14 days before the flight, they are often limited in seating and good only on certain days of the week. So it's a good idea to get those early," Tucker added.

When booking the hotel, families should make sure children's room rates are available. At most hotels, Tucker said, children younger than 18 stay free when they are accompanied by an adult.

Most vacationers from Michigan escape to the warm climate getaways.

A Disney World vacation package has been the most popular among area residents, Tucker said. Packages are good for three-, four- and seven-day stays at Disney and Epcot Center. There are many attractions in the area to keep a family busy for a week, Tucker said.

Also leaving from Florida is the one-day Sea Escape cruise, which travels to Nassau, in the Bahamas.

Washington D.C. has also been a favorite summer vacation spot among Michigan families, Tucker said.

"It's not inexpensive, but there are a lot of good things for the people to see. It's more educational for the younger people to see," she said.

In Washington D.C., guided tours are available for nominal fees. Visitors can see many of the federal buildings and memorials such as the Lincoln, Jefferson, the Washington Monument and Arlington National Cemetery.

When planning for such vacations, Bob Neugebauer, of Bob Neugebauer Travel Services, in Detroit, said people should consult with an agent.

"We are the professionals in the business. We can get the special prices for trips and the better deals where the consumer wouldn't be able to," Neugebauer said. "We can make sure they don't pay an arm and a leg for the hotel or air fare."

Spring break 1989 is already 'sold out'

By THOMAS M. VARCIE
ANP Staff Writer

Movies have been made about it and it's the topic of conversation among college students.

That conversation could end quickly, however, if plans for spring break are not acted on now, according to Shirley Tucker, owner of World Travel, in Plymouth. Many hotels at popular spring break getaways are already filled and some flights leaving Detroit are completely booked.

"Almost everything is booked right now for the popular spots. But that doesn't mean to stop calling places," Tucker said. "Call the travel agents and see what there is available. There still might be some cheaper rates for air fare or hotel bookings available. So much depends on the destination."

Tucker suggests staying at hotels surrounding the main attraction. Prices, she said, are often cheaper.

The best time to plan for spring vacation is, of course, as early as possible, according to Emily Guettler, owner of Emily's World Travel LTD., in Plymouth. Plane tickets can be purchased as early as 11 months in advance and hotel reservations can also be made in advance.

"The earlier you reserve the air tickets, the better choice of seats and better prices you get. If fares go down later, they can bring the tickets back for a refund and we reissue them at the lower price. If fares go up, they don't pay the extra," Guettler said.

Plans for spring vacation, Guettler said, should have been finalized and booked last Thanksgiving to ensure the lowest air fares and best hotel accommodations. But for last-minute planners, Guettler said a few hot spots are still open for spring vacationers.

"The big places are Disney World, anywhere in Florida and Hawaii. Bookings for any of those places may be tough. But there are three-day trips to Toronto, trips to Washington D.C. and even the Club Meds," Guettler said.

AFRICAN ADVENTURE SAFARI
One of the most exhilarating vacations possible, a safari to Kenya is experiencing the adventures of an early explorer combined with all the conveniences of today's luxury safari. Can you imagine the excitement when you view that first herd of wild animals? You've seen a few zebra at the zoo - you'll see thousands stretched over the Masai Mara as far as the eye can see. With luck we will see all the 'Big Five': elephant, rhino, lion, buffalo and leopard - I did, on my last trip. You travel from the shadows of majestic, snow-covered Kilimanjaro to the dry bush country of Tsavo and Samburu. You will visit a Masai village and be fascinated by the mystery of an African medicine hut filled with twisted roots and dried animal skins used in age-old rituals. The endless variety of animals, birds and exotic plant life are a photographer's dream. Enjoy the colorful tribesmen dancing to the insistent beat of a cow-skin drum. Shop for spears, jewelry and shields in a native market or more sophisticated jewelry and art objects in modern Nairobi. I will be escorting a trip to Kenya July 12 to 26. Come on safari with me and enjoy more than just a vacation - share an experience you will never forget!

Eagles spikers earn crown

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

After finishing second at four separate tournaments this season, Romulus High girls' volleyball team came up with the "right stuff" and at the right time.

Coach Gail Coleman and the Eagles turned back a determined Lincoln Park Saturday afternoon to capture the inaugural Romulus Roman invitational.

"I felt that the momentum had changed in that final game in our favor," Coleman said after her team rallied from a 15-10 second game loss to seal the victory and the championship with a 15-8 decision. The Eagles won the opening game, 15-11.

"I felt confident our girls were not going to allow the game slip away from them."

In the final game, behind the serves of Michele Scarrow and Kim Picciano, the Eagles jumped out in front 8-0 and increased that margin to 11-0 before the Railsplitters came back. Lincoln Park cut Romulus' lead 11-5 then, Laurie Berlin came through with a "spike" that rattled the Parkers' defense and confidence.

With the score 14-8, Romulus was out of reach and "an easy final point" put the hosts in the victory column.

However, Romulus suf-

After a hard-fought victory over Melvindale in the semifinals, Romulus High girls' volleyball team (above) stopped Lincoln Park, 2-1, in the finals to capture the inaugural Romulus Roman invitational. fered in the semifinal round where Coleman & Company came across a determined and talented Melvindale team. Trailing in both games, Romulus was forced to erase huge deficits before winning a pair of thrillers, 15-13 and 15-12. In both games, the Cardinals appeared to be on the verge of ousting their hosts before the never-say-die Eagles came back.

It was the serving of Picciano that again sparked the champs.

"They (Melvindale) gave us a lot to think about," Coleman said, commenting on the semifinals. "And Kim did an exceptional job. She gave the team the lift it needed."

Romulus disposed of Robichaud in the opening round, 15-1 and 15-2 while Lincoln Park posted a 15-6 and 15-8 victory over Taylor Truman after beating Inkster 15-2 and 15-0 in the preliminary rounds.

The Eagles also received sterling performances from Julie Machcinski who had eight serves in the semifinals while Jennifer Daniel had 10 assists. Tammy Trubilowicz was a standout on defense.

Berlinn, an outstanding all-around athlete, came up with nine kills and nine blocks in the finals and Picciano chipped in nine kills. Scarrow finished with a total of 13 service points in the finals and Picciano equalled that feat.

The Romulus Junior Varsity also surfaced as earned a first-place trophy after beating a strong Monroe St. Mary's team in the finals.

"From the comments I received from the participants," said Fred Coleman, "athletic director," they felt the tournament was an excellent one and would like to be invited back next year. We'd like to thank the newspaper for sponsoring the tournament."

The Romulus Roman is one of six newspapers published by the Associated Newspapers which has newspapers in Belleville, Van Buren, Sumpter, New Boston, Inkster, Canton, Wayne, and Westland.

Belleville cagers walk tight rope

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

With more opportunities than a cat to stay alive, Belleville continued to walk a tight rope in the Wolverine 'A' Basketball Conference.

Getting help from Trenton and Wayne earlier in the week, Coach Michael Garland and his Tigers marched into Wayne Memorial Friday night in first-place. When the shouting, shooting and final buzzer rang out, Belleville again found itself in a tie for first thanks to a 64-56 loss to the host.

Going into the week, three teams - Belleville, Wayne and Monroe - were jammed atop of the league with 9-3 records. But Belleville has Wyandotte and Lincoln Park to contend with in the stretch while Wayne has to worry about Trenton, probably the hottest team in the league right now.

Garland had "no excuses" for the Tigers' loss at Wayne. "They're a fine ball club," Garland said. "And Henry is one of the premier coaches around."

Belleville will play Wyandotte on Thursday, and a week from Friday brings the curtain down on the league season against Lincoln Park.

Wayne, with three players in double figures, led from start to finish as the Zebras held a narrow 14-13 edge after the first period, and increased the margin to 31-24 at intermission. Wayne came back and outscored their visitors 17-10 to take a 14-point advantage (48-34) into the final stanza.

Belleville was forced to play all of the second period without the services of 6-5 Maurice Brantley who got into early foul trouble. Although he came back briefly in the third period, Brantley wasn't around at the final bell. He had departed with five personals midway in the finale.

Before he left the field of action, however, Brantley had scored a game-high 20 points. Teammate Kevin Hunter kept the Tigers close with 19 points.

Eagles are 'at their best' in victory over Ann Arbor Huron

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Bring on the districts, Romulus cagers appear ready.

Romulus played its best games of the season last week, beating Ann Arbor Huron 63-50 last Tuesday in a South Central Conference basketball confrontation.

Then, they returned to the hardwood on Friday, unveiled another blistering assault to humble River Rouge 80-44.

The two victories boosted Romulus' overall record to 9-8 on the year, while their conference mark stands at 3-4 heading into Friday night's home and last league game of the season against Adrian.

"I felt we were at our best last week," said Romulus Coach Dan Henry. "Just about every phase of our game was improved."

Henry noted that, "it's ironic but Pioneer (Ann Arbor) could win this thing, and we have beaten them two of the three times we have played them this season."

Henry had some unexpected but welcomed psychological help of two former Romulus cage greats during the Huron game. Sitting in the audience were Johnny Long, who set all kinds of scoring records at the University of Detroit before going on to play with the Detroit Pistons. Long is presently with the Indiana Pacers. Also in the crowd was John's nephew, Grant Long, who went on to star at Eastern Michigan University before he was drafted by the Miami Heat last year.

The two pros had the week off because of the All-Star break.

Romulus jumped off to a 13-9 first period and a 29-20 half time lead against the River Rats of Huron as Arol Trinity, a senior guard, pumped in 10 of his 21 points in the first half. Teammate Grayam Scott, a 6-9 senior center, picked up where Trinity left off, collecting 12 of his 14 points in the second half.

Kosikowski, Reed win regional

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It took a lot of hard work and sweat, but Tim Kosikowski of Romulus and Derek Reed of Belleville managed to earn gold medals at the Class A Regional Wrestling Championships staged over the weekend at Plymouth Salem.

Kosikowski, a 125-pound senior, and Reed, a 103-pound junior, will lead an area delegation of six qualifiers to the state championships. The Class A state finals will be staged Friday and Saturday at the Kellogg Center in Battle Creek.

Romulus also qualified three other outstanding wrestlers: heavyweight Paul Nowicki, who finished second; Rick Champagne, runner-up in the 152-pound class; Dave Gehringer, also second in the 119-pound class; and Bruce Boyd, a 130-pounder who picked up a bronze medal.

Belleville's Mike Komaroni (189) and Mike Braswell (160) also will compete at state after finishing third in their respective weight classes.

Reed was the surprise of the tournament. A junior who was "too small" to wrestle as a ninth grader, Derek muscled his way into Coach Gerald Malecek's lineup last year as a sophomore through "his sheer determination to make the grade," according to the Tiger coach.

Reed had to dispose of the state's third and fourth ranked wrestlers in order to climb to the top of the regional hill.

"You have to give Coach John Ritchey a lot of credit for working with him (Reed)," Malecek noted. "Derek really worked hard to earn that gold medal."

Belleville is district champ

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A strange thing happened to Romulus at the Class A team district championships. The highly regarded Eagles were upset by an unheralded Belleville team, 42-27, ending their dreams of regional and state acclaim.

Going into the Wayne districts, Coach Norm Butler and his Eagles had compiled an impressive 15-1 won-lost record. They were undefeated in the South Central Conference and ranked among the top 10 teams in the state this year.

In the meanwhile, Belleville came on strong at the end of the season and pulled out the Wolverine 'A' Conference title. It's

Chiefs can't pull out of their spin

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Title-hopeful Grosse Ile raced from a 48-22 half time advantage to a 83-45 victory over New Boston Huron Friday night to tighten their grip on first place in the Huron Conference.

"It was really no contest," said Huron cage coach Larry Swick whose Chiefs sported a 1-10 conference and a 2-14 overall record heading into last night's game with Monroe Jefferson. "They're an excellent team."

The victory enabled the Islanders to keep pace with Carlson in the chase of the Huron Conference crown. Each has 10-1 records. Carlson will invade Huron Friday night.

The Islanders managed to neutralize Huron's sharpshooting senior guards Mike Harrison and Mike Debozy, who failed to reach double scoring figures for the first time this season. Harrison, checked by 6-5 Jeff Klein, was held to nine points. Debozy also had nine.

With Jeff's brother, Steve, pumping in 11 of his game-high 24 points in the first eight minutes, Grosse Ile built up a 22-12 lead, increasing their margin to 38-22 before coasting to the lopsided victory.

Huron Center Craig Poet, with 13 points, was the only Chief to hit two figures.

Tigers poised to win title

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It went right down to the wire between the undefeated Belleville and previously unbeaten Wayne Memorial swim teams. And at the wire, Coach Bill Snider and the Tigers of Belleville pulled out a crucial victory by the narrowest of margins.

The Tigers won the showdown last week of the undefeated Wolverine 'A' Conference swim teams, 42-41. The victory sealed their first perfect (7-0) conference dual meet season.

"I am obviously elated by this victory," said Snider. "It reflects the hard work these kids have put into the program. However, we still have the league championships ahead of us. And the closeness of our meet with Wayne shows that no one team has a real edge."

Snider stressed that Monroe, the defending and winner of the six previous conference titles, will play a key role at the championships. "With two losses, they (Monroe) may have an uphill battle, but don't count them out."

The conference championships will be decided, beginning at 6 p.m. tomorrow (Thursday, Feb. 16) at Wayne Memorial. The preliminaries for the diving title also are at Wayne High.

profile

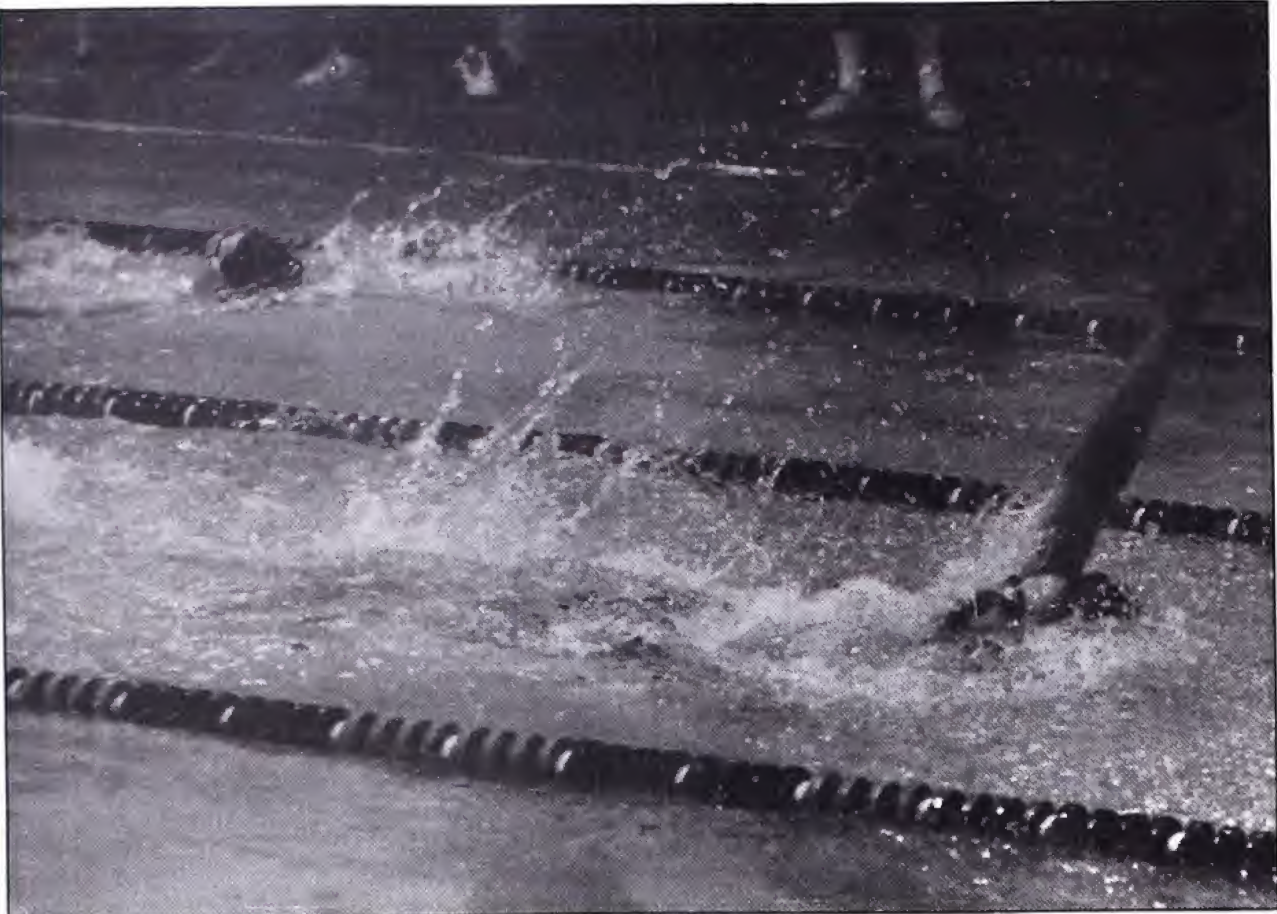

Name: Derek Reed

Age: 16

School: Belleville

Sport: Wrestling

Achievement: Coming off of a victory at the Wolverine 'A' Conference, Reed, a 103-pound junior wrestler, surprised the number-two and number-three state-ranked grapplers to capture a coveted regional crown

It came down to the last event - the 400-yard freestyle relay - and the last man - Chris Bird (middle lane) in the battle of the two undefeated Wolverine 'A' Conference swim teams - Belleville and Wayne Memorial. All Bird needed was to finish second to seal the victory, and he did, giving Coach Bill Snider's tankers an unblemished 7-0 record. Belleville will carry its perfect record into the conference finals scheduled for 6 p.m. Thursday at Wayne Memorial. ANP photo by Ann Grimes/staff photographer

They're scheduled for 5 p.m. today.

Against Wayne, it went down to the last event - the 400-yard freestyle - and the last man, Mike Bird.

With Belleville ahead 39-34 heading into the freestyle relay, Wayne needed a first and second place in order to pile up the 10 points necessary to pull the victory out. Coach Jim McPartlin's Zeb-ras managed to beat the Tiger foursome of Duane Townsend, Joe Bongiorno, Doug Duff and Bird to the wire, however, Belleville won the three points in finishing second that sealed the victory.

Wayne's winning time was 3:34.38, while the Tiger team was clocked in 3:35.72. Wayne's second team was nearby with a 3:36.94.

Belleville received exceptional performances out of Eric Snider, the coach's son, and Brian Bogardus who were double winners.

Snider, a 17-year-old senior, turned in his fastest times in winning the 50-yard freestyle (22.32) and the 100-yard freestyle (49.14).

Bogardus, also a senior who earned All-Area accolades a year ago, came through with victories in the 100-yard butterfly (56.71) and the 100-yard backstroke (1:00.0).

Coach Snider said that he realized before the meet that his team had to win at least one of the relays in order to win the meet. His Tigers surfaced with a victory in the 200-yard medley thanks to the efforts of Bogardus, Scott Overholt, Joe Bongiorno and Snider who were clocked in 1:47.9. They easily set down their Wayne counterparts who churned out a 1:49.73.

Upset

only league setback came at the hands of Southgate Anderson, a team that Coach Gerald Malecek and his grapplers will meet in the first-round of the regionals today in Jackson.

"Everything - and I mean everything - went right for us against Romulus," Malecek said. "I knew we had to be ahead of them by at least six points going into the heavyweight because they (Romulus) have one of the best heavyweights in the state."

"These kids showed team discipline and reacted to every challenge in the best manner. What else can I say than that I am very proud at what our team accomplished."

Malecek viewed the matches in the 140-pound class where Joey Yuhas defeated Brian Farnan, and the 125-pound bout between Chris Williams and his counterpart Billy Lincoln as crucial.

If Belleville disposes of Southgate Anderson in the preliminary round of the regional, the Tigers will run up against the winner of the Temperance Bedford and Adrian match. And since Bedford has been ranked No. 1 in the state polls most of the year, Belleville will have another incredible assignment in the finals.

But Malecek isn't down-playing the Southgate meet. "After all, they beat us handily in dual meet competition," he pointed out.

The winner of the regional will advance to the state championship. The state finals will be staged the following weekend in Battle Creek.

The Michigan High School Athletic Association has added a new dimension in prep wrestling. The MHSAA, the governing body of high school sports in the state, now conducts individual as well as team championships in wrestling. In the individual phase of the championships, a wrestler must finish among the top four in his weight class to qualify for the regional and state; in the team-phase of the championship, the team must win the district in order to advance to the regional. Regional winners advance to the state tournament.

Here are the results of the Belleville-Romulus district finals staged at Wayne Memorial.
